

WHO WE WANT TO HELP

March 24 is World TB Day.

Mama Maphosela cares for children whose parents have diseases that affect their immune systems, such as HIV and TB. She provides a safe space for the children, and educates their parents on treatment options. Her orphanage is supported by the Desmond Tutu TB Centre.

In a recent study conducted by Occupational Therapy students from the University of Cape Town-SHAWCO program, the researchers concluded that an orphanage like hers would benefit from:

- More education of the caregivers on handling of the different needs of each child
- More medical care
- More opportunities to participate in various play related activities that would facilitate development of the children; and
- More personal interaction from adults

Mama Maphosela watches over her children from her doorway.

HOW YOU CAN GET INVOLVED

Supreme Esteem, Inc. wants to help create some solutions. Mama Maphosela runs an orphanage endorsed by Archbishop Desmond Tutu, and even a few thousand dollars will empower the caregivers with the items necessary to effect change in the lives of these children. Mama Maphosela and her caregivers are dedicated to teaching these children to become independent, empowered members of their community.

This 10th Anniversary Black Tie Dinner will support Mama Maphosela in getting medical care, food, clothing, and basic needs. With your contribution, you enable us to leave a lasting legacy in a place that deserves to be uplifted. When you become a sponsor, your company will be acknowledged by socially responsible professionals who are willing to invest their disposable income to do good work.

10TH ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION BLACK TIE DINNER

BENEFITING
THE CHILDREN OF SOUTH AFRICA

IN PARTNERSHIP WITH ARCHBISHOP DESMOND TUTU

HOSTED BY JACQUELINE HAZÉL,
PRESIDENT, SUPREME ESTEEM, INC.
IN CONJUNCTION WITH HAZÉL'S HEROES

WHY WE ARE CELEBRATING

It is my pleasure to invite you to be a sponsor for Supreme Esteem, Inc.'s 10th Anniversary Celebration Black Tie Dinner. Supreme Esteem, Inc. is a motivational, inspirational resource dedicated to empowering people. For ten years now, Supreme Esteem, Inc. has been leading professional, progressive men and women to effectively eliminate the barriers to their personal development through its Forgiveness Retreats. People across the country have been empowered through the groundbreaking experiential work done at the Retreats. Now Supreme Esteem, Inc. wants to make a bigger impact in the world.

Once again, Supreme Esteem, Inc. and its participants will be visiting a local orphanage that cares for children orphaned by AIDS and TB. It is our goal to not only leave South Africa as changed individuals, but also to leave South Africa a better place because we've been there.

The orphanage in the township of Nyanga in South Africa has been serving the children of that community for over 17 years. Mama Maphosela, the founder of the home, began her work in 1994 when she took four children whose parents were too ill to care for them properly. She was determined to provide a place where they could grow up and become empowered members of their community. "I believe this is God's plan," says Maphosela. "I have committed myself to these children."
